NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

E. BUTTERICK & Co., of this city, have shown us how much foolishness and extravagance we have assisted in perpetuating in our clothes, and what wretched taste we have shown in our wardrobes, which are, after all, in one sense, the manifestation of ourselves. This firm had the courage to design convenient and graceful forms for our garments; and the ripe, good sense of the best and most cultured of our citizens not only accepted them as god-sends and liberators, but as the helpers towards thrift and fortune. The patterns which we find in this house, beside being trustworthy and sensible, are graceful and original, with a touch of Americanism in them, which, now that there is no Paris for clothes, may possibly find favor even in the eyes of the most prosperous of our people.—Home Journal.

The patterns from this establishment are worthy of more than a passing notice.

The leading idea of this house, and that which, more than anything else, has built up this great establishment, is self-dependence for every American lady, rich or poor.

There is hardly any kind or style of garment which cannot be found at their rooms, or obtained of their agents, which now number over 1,100. The amount of labor which has been bestowed on this work to bring these patterns up to the high standing their reputation justly gives them is indeed surprising. Perfected and graduated by a system entirely different from that in use by any other parties, they give not only the style called for, but also the desired size.

This firm warrants every pattern they sell, and we have yet to hear of any case where parties purchasing have failed in getting satisfaction.—Liberal Christian.

We regard these patterns as one of the greatest benefits bestowed upon woman-kind, and are glad to see they are becoming every day more appreciated, a fact which is attested by the crowds which daily visit their spacious rooms.—New York Era.

Their establishment furnishes patterns of every garment usually found in a man's, woman's or child's wardrobe, at a trifling cost, and accompanied with explicit printed directions; so that a woman of average common sense cannot fail to secure a good fitting garment.—Hartford Daily Times.

The question whether the people of this continent are equal to the task of designing the styles of their own garments may be considered settled. The firm of E. BUTTERICK & Co. have, by a successful experiment, established the fact that garments designed and manufactured here are superior in general fitness and beauty to imported costumes. The sudden rise and extraordinary growth of this establishment is a matter of surprise to even the most sanguine, who have longed for the time when we could assert our superiority in the matter of dress as fully as we have done in other respects.—New York Independent.

Among the inventions of the day to facilitate the lady who wishes to economize, and yet conform to prevailing styles, is the establishment of the pattern business. The house in our city which does the largest business of this kind, is that of E. BUTTERICK & Co., 589 Broadway. Their various publications and patterns illustrate ladies', gentlemen's and children's fashions; besides which they issue bulletins and journals for all these departments, as well as for military and naval uniforms.—New York Tablet.

Almost every one has received practical advantages from the ingenuity and enterprise of the firm of E. BUTTERICK & Co. This firm, in the interest of fashion, founded on common sense and convenience, are teaching the people that they need not go abroad for their fashions.—Globe.

The process invented, discovered or mathematically wrought out by this ingenious and enterprising firm, belongs as exclusively to the nineteenth century as the ocean cables, or the iron belt for the flying car.

It is a sort of "million a minute" institution, so rapidly can they repeat their patterns, or reproduce the designs of both continents. How we bless Fashion for her co-operation with the interests and adornments of home, and how we bless E. BUTTERICK & Co. for making a pleasant household duty both possible and delightful.—Buffalo Daily Courier.

LADIES' SCISSORS.

We invite your attention to the advertisement and Price List of Shears and Scissors in this issue of our Catalogue.

Aware of the difficulty experienced by ladies, who are desirous of getting good steel and good temper in scissors, we are happy to be able to offer goods in this line, which a thorough knowledge of their working, enables us to guarantee as perfect in every respect. A complete assortment, ranging from the most powerful shears for heavy work to the smallest necessary size for ladies' use, is to be found under the Price List heading. There are no others in the market that can compete with them in durability, temper, rapidity and ease of execution, and neatness of operation. They are a compound of steel and wrought iron, the inside of the blade being steel of the finest temper. By means of the welding (an operation which cannot be performed by the best workmen in the old world, as it is the grand secret of the manufacturer,) great advantages are insured to them when compared with scissors and shears imported from England and elsewhere. It might sound like carrying coals to Newcastle, should we say that they are in use in Sheffield, the well-known centre of cutlery manufacture for Europe; but we can go farther and say that they not only find a ready market there, but are also exported to Russia and various countries in the East.

There are altogether three patents for these Shears. By means of the first is secured the only perfect adaptation of the Shears to the hand. The second concerns the screw—this is round on one end and square on the other. This screw prevents any possibility of the blades cutting wide of each other, or overlapping. It also holds them so firmly together that a perfect fixture is maintained, as long as the blades last. There is also one other patent for the Shears; that is, for the shape and form of the blades. These are peculiar to this manufacture, and combine with the rest of the article to produce perfect ease in cutting. There is no more effort required to open the blades the full distance, than that which is actually necessary to expend in grasping the handle. Those who have used them for any length of time, assure us that with them they can cut cloth of any description, fifty per cent. more easily and rapidly than with any others they have ever tried.

It will also be noticed that we advertise Bent as well as Straight Shears for general work, and Pocket Scissors in two sizes. In this department is also a very useful little article, for which we have a constant demand—namely, the Button Hole Cutter. This is adjustable, and so arranged that it cuts without ripping or tearing the edges of the cloth in any way.

These goods being manufactured for the especial use of our customers, are all marked with our name to prevent impostures and infringements on our method of manufacture.

Any of these goods can be obtained directly from us, or any of our agents.

CARD.

We would respectfully call attention to our notices elsewhere in this edition of the Catalogue of the intended changes in and additions to the Metropolitan Magazine. In stating that this magazine fills a space in the world of literary enterprise, which, previous to its appearance, was unoccupied, we do not feel that we are in any way using the horn of vanity, for we are carried out in our assertion by that best of all possible criterions—the extensive circulation of the book itself. Hitherto, our especial aim has been to make our book meet the wants of the public—it has been our desire to make Fashion what she ought to be, the handmaid of common sense. We have endeavored to strip her of that mystery which has so long, and so unnecessarily borne her company, and by producing practical American styles, have, we believe, competed successfully with those of foreign importation.

Influenced by the patronage so generously bestowed on us by our friends the Public, and desirous of still further meriting that approval without which it is impossible for enterprises like ours to extend themselves, we have concluded to make various additions to the Metropolitan.

Commencing with the July number, the book will in future be embellished with four pages of first class chromo lithographs, by means of which, we will be much better able to illustrate the styles as they are designed to appear, than is otherwise possible. These will be accompanied by full descriptions of the costumes shown.

To the present practical department will be added others, the names of which are sufficiently indicative of their utility and even necessity, to require no comment with regard to the expediency of their admission. They will be entitled "What we do Recommend," and "What we do not Recommend."

When not intruding on the space which will be monopolized by Fashions and articles relative to fashion, literary matter of a type recognized as first class will be inserted. This department, while with us only of secondary consideration, will receive full attention, and our best efforts will be given to make it a source of enjoyment as well as benefit to our readers.

The subscription price will remain the same, $1.50 per year, but no patterns will be given as premiums.

Such a book as we propose to issue, at these low figures, will, we presume, appear rather anomalous, as they are unequalled by those of any other magazine published in this country; but the large subscription list we now have, gives us assurance in our action, our motto being "The greatest good to the greatest number."

THE METROPOLITAN MAGAZINE.

CRITICISMS OF THE PRESS.

The Metropolitan—a magazine published by this firm—is certainly gotten up in a most practical manner, and by subscription is furnished at the low rate of $1.50 a year.

It will pay any of our lady readers to examine this magazine. It will be found to contain, not the frivolous and overdrawn styles which render so many of the published works of fashion useless, but common sense, tasteful styles, such as a Christian lady might adopt.

From the Exchange.

How the ladies got on before BUTTERICK published the Metropolitan, we haven't any notion. Badly enough, though, we guess. For, if it be necessary for "the sex" to be well informed as to the reigning fashions, and "that it is, all nature cries aloud through all her works," then they must have got their knowledge at infinite trouble and pains. But BUTTERICK has made such accomplishments and acquirements easy, such troubles a pleasure, at least we judge so, as they all buy his magazine and govern themselves—or their dresses, and it amounts to pretty much the same thing—accordingly. The Metropolitan is tabooed to bachelors. They are immediately struck with lunacy if they fondly gaze on its strangely illustrated pages. E. BUTTERICK & Co., 589 Broadway, New York: send for a copy.

From the Montreal Evening Star.

This Magazine gives all the new styles and fashions. It tells how to select and make different articles. It tells how to order such patterns as you want. It enables a woman to be her own dress-maker, and to insure, without other help, a perfect fit, and to dress in taste and in the fashion.

From the Liberal Christian.

Those of our lady readers who send to 589 Broadway, N. Y., will receive a profusely illustrated work worth reading, and one which will give them more real reliable information in regard to dress than any other work published.

From the New York Globe.

This monthly was started two years ago; it has now a circulation of 30,000. It contains many illustrations of costumes, clearly and strongly engraved, much sensible advice with regard to the fashions, and bright and readable articles generally.

Our Patterns possess these Advantages.

FIRST—They are reliable, each Pattern having been practically tested before being offered for sale.

SECOND—They are of different sizes, so that any one can obtain a Pattern requiring little variation.

THIRD—Each Pattern has a Printed label, showing its size, the amount of Cloth, Trimming, &c., required, with necessary instructions for cutting and making, and a picture of the garment when finished.

FOURTH—They are more perfectly cut than they can be by the ordinary method, each part being perfect and fitted. The difficult parts are notched so as to be easily put together.

HOW TO TAKE MEASURES.

To Measure for a Lady's Cassaque, Sack, Cloak, Dress, Waist, &c.—Ascertain the bust measure by putting the measure around the body, over the dress, close under the arms, drawing it closely, not too tight.

To Measure for a Skirt.—Give the size around the waist.

 Take the measures for misses' and little girls' patterns the same as for ladies. In ordering give the ages.

To Measure for a Boy's Jacket, Coat, Waist or Vest.—Ascertain the breast measure by putting the measure around the body, under the Jacket, close under the arms, drawing it closely, not too tight.

For the Overcoat.—Measure the same as for the Jacket or Coat; only measure over the Coat or Jacket, or whatever garment

To Measure for Pants.—Ascertain the waist measure, by putting the measure around the body, over the Pants at the waist, drawing it closely, not too tight.
the Coat is to be worn over.

To Measure for a Shirt.—For the size of the Neck, measure the exact size where the collar encircles it, allowing one inch, thus: if the exact size is 14 inches, use a Pattern marked 15 inches. For the Breast, measure the same as for a coat. For length of Sleeve, measure from the socket bone in the back of the neck, over the highest point of the shoulder, down the arm to the lowest point the wrist-band is to extend. Be careful not to get the sleeve too short.

Any of the Patterns specified in the within Catalogue can be procured of our Agents, or they will be sent by us post-paid, on receipt of price, to any part of the United States or Canada.
